THIS DEALER HAD REAL TACT

Stout and Thin Customers Use Special Mirrors in Wearing Apparel Establishment.

A dealer in wearing apparel, noticing that his stout customers and his very thin customers often were sensitive as to their figures, installed two full length mirrors of special design, says Popular Mechanics magazine. One was slightly concave and the other slightly convex. When a stout customer tried on a suit she was led to the concave mirror for self-inspection, and was able to see her figure as it would appear with its measurements reduced. When a thin person came in to try on clothes she was taken to the convex mirror, where the opposite effect was produced.

Only Moistened His Lips.

Omer Scudder, a Columbus real estate and insurance agent, told some of the other business men who have offices in the Bassett building that he was hot. They agreed that they were just as hot as he was.

"I can eat all the ice cream you fellows are willing to buy," Scudder declared.

The others made up 60 cents and sent out for a half gallon of cream. They had a notion that Scudder would eat about a quart after which they would divide the remaining quart among themselves. Scudder surrounded the entire half gallon of ice cream, smacked his lips and asked them whether they were not going to get him enough ice cream for a real taste. The business men looked at each other, smiled sickly and returned to their places of business. — Indianapolis News.

The Three Philosophers.

For the first time in their lives three genuine, simon-pure philosophers went out riding in a motor car. After they had ridden about twenty miles out in the country the car broke down. Said the first philosopher: "I have long wanted to study certain aspects of nature, and this affords me the particular prospect I most admire." Said the second philosopher: "I observe there is a farmhouse over there where food can doubtless be obtained in sufficient quantities." Said the third philosopher: "I have long wanted to be in a situation where, without moving, sustenance would be brought to me by one friend, while the other discoursed on the beauties of nature." — Life.

RIECHMAN CASE GETS A REVERSAL

SHERIFF OF SHELBY COUNTY REMOVED FROM OFFICE BY SUPREME COURT.

THE LAW NOT ENFORCED

The Court's Decision States That the Sheriff Did Not Enforce Prohibition Laws in City of Memphis—Other State Named.

Memphis.—Sheriff Riechman of Shelby county was removed from office by the State Supreme Court at Nashville, speaking through Special Justice Frierson of Chattanooga.

This decision was a reversal of the decision reached by Chancellor Heiskell of the Memphis Chancery Court. Chancellor Heiskell had taken the position practically that a sheriff could not be removed from office because he did not break up unlawful conditions so long as he had served all the processes placed in his hands.

The decision of the Supreme Court states that Sheriff Riechman did nothing toward the enforcement of the prohibition laws in Memphis from the time he assumed office in September, 1914, until February 1, 1915. He appears to have tried to break up a number of roadhouses outside the city, however, the opinion states.

The Georgia tract was purchased by Mr. King and his associates and will be sold to the colonists who are to occupy it at $20 per acre. Five representatives of the Germans who are to occupy the land went with Mr. King to the tract, and inspected it before the contract was signed. The tract is cut-over timber land.
